A LESSON IN CHEMISTRY.

Foreigners Put Minerals in the Chemical and Lose.

A Busted National Bank an Exciting Part of the World's Fair Exhibit.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, May 9.—Among the exhibits at the exposition today was a national bank under suspension. The exhibit was not an attractive or pleasing one in the eyes of the foreigners who had their money on deposit, but the fears of not getting it back were unfounded. The world's fair branch of the Chemical National bank, of Chicago, now in the hands of Uncle Sam, usually opened its doors on the second floor of pavilion "D," administration building, at 9 o'clock. The news that the bank directors had decided to go into liquidation was known to most of the English speaking depositors long before the banking hours arrived.

Among the earliest callers was National and State Commissioner John Boyd Thayer, of New York. The state funds for the world's fair on deposit in the bank were in his name, although he is not treasurer. The commissioner smiled and said he was not concerned about the safety of the states money entrusted to him, but he intended to present a check for $9,742, which was all that New York had on deposit, just as a formality to show that he had done his duty. When Mr. Thayer handed the check to Paying Teller Jarvis that gentleman replied that the bank was not open. So the commissioner sat down and waited for something to turn up. H. H. Kern, one of the Kansas commissioners, who is also superintendent of the state building, was exceedingly anxious about the $1,100 of the state fund he had with the bank and talked dubiously about getting it out quickly, if at all.

He presented a check for $175, but did not get the cash. He deposited $1,100 Saturday and felt a little blue. "The chances are that if the bank does not pay it," said the commissioner, "that I will have to make it good. The Kansas people are peculiar that way. The fund of $65,000 is nearly exhausted and I doubt if we shall have money enough to pay all our bills if I do get this $1,100."

At 9:25 came a telephone message from Cashier Braden, at the down town office, to the suspended bank to close the doors of the exposition branch. This was done and soon there was a line of anxious, complaining depositors, some representing themselves and others states or concession concerns. They wanted to get in close to the paying teller's window, but he talked to those who understood English in a reassuring way and some went away.

The paying teller said he would have paid the checks presented before the doors were closed, but he had not the combination of the vault. Treasurer Seeberger, of the Exposition company, was an early caller. He said he had a small account with the bank, but was confident every depositor would be paid in full and quickly. The question of a successor to the Chemical National bank at the fair was one to be decided by the directory at its next meeting. The United States government, national commission, Missouri board and other states have money in the bank. The Chemical National paid $10,000 for its privilege of doing business in the world's fair grounds, and has always done a good business. The trouble of the bank people will begin when the foreigners from the Midway plaisance villages, who speak little or no English and have excitable natures, learn of the suspensions. The bank has a good deal of their money in large and small accounts and the depositors will want it back in a hurry.

THE CHICAGO HOUSE CLOSED.

CHICAGO, May 9.—The doors of the Chemical National bank did not open for business this morning. The following notice was posted on the door of the bank. "The business of the Chemical National bank of Chicago is suspended and I am in possession, in the interest of the comptroller of the currency. [Signed] James D. Sturgis, National Bank Examiner." A statement of the assets and liabilities of the bank will probably be given out this afternoon.

AN ARMED EXPEDITION

Is Preparing to Invade Spanish Territory.

KEY WEST, Fla., May 9.—Preparations are being continued for what looks like an armed expedition from here to aid the insurrectionists. Sunday evening about 300 armed men slipped out of town and after drilling on the beach, participated in a sham battle with the avowed purpose of familiarizing the men with tactics likely to be employed in a conflict with Spanish troops. More drills of the kind are to follow. President Jose Marti is recovering from his illness and has promised to speak tomorrow night, delivering what may be termed his farewell address here. He will also issue a manifesto on Cuban affairs.

TAPPING OF WIRES

Loses the Stock Exchange of Chicago $2,000.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., May 9.—The public produce and stock exchange of Chicago, with a special wire and branch offices at Dowagic, Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids and Muskegon lost $1,500 or $2,000 yesterday through the tapping of its wires. The wire was tapped near Niles, and confederates in the four branch offices made deals in stocks which netted them $900 in Muskegon, $400 in Kalamazoo, $120 here and an unknown amount in Dowagia. The fraud was discovered after business hours when the transactions of the day were checked back. No arrests have been made.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP.

Pension Commissioner Lochren Arrives at His Office.

The Belief Prevails That the List of Pensioners Will Be Shortened—The National Bank Question.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The new commissioner of pensions, Judge William Lochren, of Minnesota, arrived at the Arlington last night and entered the big building over which he is to preside for the next four years for the first time this morning. "I have not been in a position to give any time to the consideration of pension matters, or any other governmental affairs, except in the most cursory way, owing to the exacting nature of my judicial duties," said Judge Lochren, "consequently I have outlined no policy, and formulated no theories. All I have to do is to carry out existing laws."

Allusion being made to the immense aggregate sum of money that was now required for pensions, Judge Lochren assented, saying, it was rather odd, too, considering that the war had been over nearly thirty years. He also referred to the fact that within a very few years the total pension payments had been doubled in volume, though this was a natural result of the liberal legislation of 1890. He thought there was a growing sentiment in the country in favor of reform in the matter of pensions, a sentiment that was reflected in many influential newspapers, republican as well as democratic.

Comptroller of Currency Eckles is giving close attention to the business of his office and is looking into the question of how to make the national banks even more safe than they have been in the past. In past years, even with the excellent rules for the supervision of these banks which have prevailed, it has been possible in some instances for bad management and rascality on the part of bank officials to continue undiscovered for so long a time as to eventually involve a bank and its customers in disaster. Mr. Eckles is determined to reduce opportunities for mismanagement to a minimum and will soon issue a circular taking an important step in that direction. Heretofore it has been the aim of the comptrollers to have the condition of each bank in the United States looked into once a year by a bank examiner. Mr. Eckles proposes to have at least two examinations made every year.

STEADILY RISING.

The River at Helena, Ark., is Very High.

HELENA, Ark., May 9.—The river now stands but five feet below the highest water mark ever recorded and is steadily rising. Well informed river men predict that it will reach a point higher than ever reached before. This gloomy prediction is based on the report of the present condition of the upper rivers. The people whose property is behind the levee and whose safety depend on it, are not going to make the mistake of being too sure of the abilities of the levees to keep out the coming great waste. The levee board has inaugurated a system of guarding the levee throughout the whole system. Wherever there appears a weak place dirt and sacks are being put in and the levees strengthened. Night guards are placed on duty who patrol the whole length of the levee. Some farmers who are living in the bottoms above Helena are making preparations to move their horses, mules and cattle to this place.

THIRSTING FOR GORE.

Two Editors Who Want to Fight a Duel.

MEMPHIS, May 9.—E. W. Carmack, the editor-in-chief of the Commercial, who challenged W. A. Collier, of the Appeal-Avalanche, to fight a duel Saturday, was placed under a $10,000 bond to keep the peace for one year yesterday, by Judge Scraggs. Mr. Collier is a fugitive from justice, the authorities being unable to find him. Four warrants have been sworn out against him by the sheriff, charging him with accepting a challenge to fight a duel, resisting arrest, assault and battery, and carrying concealed weapons. Mr. Collier's seconds were arrested and released on bond. Holmes Cummins, Mr. Collier's second, had not challenged W. J. Crawford last night for denouncing him as a coward, and it is believed that he has concluded to let the matter drop.

INDIANS GOING EAST.

Four Winnebagoes En Route to New York City.

BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis., May 9.—G. R. Ruddy, Indian trader among the Winnebagoes, left last night with four Indians for New York city to give an exhibition in the Indian department of the New York Press club fair under the direction of Miss Ellen Skyles, government Indian agent. Ruddy is to return in a fortnight to take charge of an extensive Indian exhibit at the world's fair.

The pilgrims were introduced by the archbishop of Echistaedt, in Bavaria. The pope has made arrangements to receive 800 pilgrims from Malta, on May 21st. The pilgrims will be presented by Face, archbishop of Rhodes.

CAUGHT AT LAST!

The Famous Hillmon Insurance Swindlers Run Down.

To Secure Life Insurance a Murder, Perjury and Other Crimes are Committed.

NEW YORK, May 9.—John W. Hillmon, the chief conspirator in the famous "Hillmon Insurance swindle in Kansas," has been found. The attorney for the Mutual Life Insurance company, which, with the New York Life Insurance company and the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance company carried the $40,000 which Hillmon had on his life when he disappeared in 1879, in an interview said yesterday, "We have at last found Hillmon alive and well and know exactly where we can lay hands on him. After a search extending over fifteen years he has been finally located, traced to the Pacific coast and he has made a clean breast of the whole affair."

The story of the case involves the murder of an innocent man to provide a corpse, wholesale perjury and host of other crimes. Hillmon was thirty four years of age when he disappeared from Medicine Lodge in 1878. He had always been a poor man, and when it was found that he had left insurance policies aggregating $40,000, the suspicions of the companies were aroused and they contested the claim of Hillmon's alleged widow to the money.

The corpse which was said to be Hillmon's was identified there by many supposedly reputable witnesses, but when it was afterward exhumed on the company's order, Hillmon's neighbors declared it was not his, and his wife, in giving a description of her husband, failed to describe the corpse. The company fought the claim on these grounds. The case was tried three times. The first and second time the jury disagreed and the third time a verdict was returned in favor of the plaintiff.

New evidence was discovered that decided the company to argue for a new trial. On March 17, 1879, a man was shot and killed in a desolate lumber camp on Crooked creek, by John H. Brown, a partner of Hillmon's, who claimed the shooting was accidental. He notified a farmer near by, who went with him to view the body. The dead man's head lay near the fire and his head had been burned, destroying his features partly. Brown said the man was Hillmon and the body was buried. Brown afterwards confessed that he had entered into a conspiracy in December, 1878, with Hillmon and Levi Baldwin to defraud the life insurance companies by insuring Hillmon's life. Baldwin was to furnish the money and Hillmon and Brown were to manage the disappearance of the former.

They started for Wichita and on the way picked up a strange man named Joe Berkeley. This man, Brown alleged, was shot by Hillmon, who dressed the corpse in his own clothing and put his diary in his pocket. Hillmon put on Berkley's clothing and saying that there was a corpse ready made to impersonate him, he left the camp. He told Brown that he would assume the name of Marshall and sail under it until they got the money on the policies. After Brown had made this confession it was discovered that he had lied. The dead man was not Joe Berkeley, but Frederick Adolph Walters, a young German cigarmaker of Fort Madison, Iowa, who had gone to Lawrence in 1878 and who disappeared about the same time that Hillmon did.

This brought the matter down to a plain case of murder in which John H. Brown and Hillmon were the principals, with Levi Baldwin and Mrs. Hillmon as accessories before the fact. This was the condition of the case when the argument for a new trial was made by the insurance companies. In the meantime Mrs. Hillmon had traveled much and the companies concluded that by following her they could find her husband. This clue failed, as she married again. However, the detectives employed by the insurance people kept steadily at work on the case, and finally succeeded in running down the principal in the swindle. It is understood that he consented readily enough to make a clean breast of the affair in order to clear himself of the charge that he killed Walters. This crime, according to the detectives, he lays at Brown's door. The latter had been kept under surveillance, and it is probable that all the conspirators will be brought up on criminal charges if the insurance companies make good their claims regarding the identity of the man who has been identified as Hillmon.

MISS PAULINE MARKNAM.

The Actress, is Suffering From a Broken Leg.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 9.—Pauline Markham, the actress, is laid up at the Watson house in this city with a broken leg, and may not be able to walk for a month. Miss Markham's "Her Husband," company arrived Sunday night. While walking on Seventh street from the union depot she fell into a hole in the sidewalk, breaking both bones in her left leg near the ankle.

SEVERELY BURNED

By an Explosion in a Gas Storage Room.

CHICAGO, May 9.—Two men employed as firemen for an oil manufacturing firm on the corner of West Kinzie and Adams, were seriously burned by an explosion which occurred early this morning in the gas storeage room of the building. Their names are: Ferdinand Rasch, severely burned on body, arms, legs and face, may die, Moses Forlong, burned on head, face and hands, will recover.

A SHIP CANAL.

To Shorten the Haul Between the Lakes and Sea.

A Gigantic Scheme Which Contemplates an Expenditure of Over $50,000,000.

NEW YORK, May 9.—E. A. McDonald, of Toronto, Canada, who has been in New York for some weeks, has, it is said, organized a syndicate to construct an aqueduct from Georgian Bay to Toronto, sixty miles, to supply Toronto with domestic water and motive power. The plan also involves the construction of a ship canal projected over forty years ago by the late Mr. Capreal and others, to shorten the route 409 miles between Chicago and New York, and 900 miles between the west and Liverpool, as compared with the Erie canal and New York route. The plan contemplates the expenditure of over $50,000,000.

MUNCIE CARPENTERS

Go Out on a Strike—Dr. J. S. Smith Arrested at Claypool.

The union carpenters of Muncie walked out Saturday evening, vowing to remain until the contracting carpenters had signed the new wage schedule, which calls for thirty cents per hour. Yesterday a number of the contractors signed an agreement not to submit to the demands of the union, and the situation is believed to be serious. The contractors desire to grade their employes, some of whom they are willing to pay thirty-three and one half cents per hour, while others they claim are only worth twenty-two and one-half cents. The union, however, demands an all around price of thirty cents. The other laboring men of Muncie sympathize with the carpenters, and it is expected a general boycott will be instituted.

The jury in the case of Mrs. Nellie Payne, of Fowler, indicted for the attempted murder of her husband, retired at 11:30 a. m. Saturday and at 5 p. m. reported the woman guilty and sentenced her to the female prison for four years. Mrs Payne received the news quietly. The verdict was no surprise to the community and is generally approved. Counsel for the defendant made the customary motion for a new trial, which was promptly overruled, and notice was given of an appeal. Mr. Payne, husband of the convicted woman, has an application for divorce pending.

The fine two-story residence of Eli Murray, at Anderson, was blown to pieces by a natural gas explosion, and the family, consisting of Mr. Murray and wife and two children, were thrown into the yard. Elsie, the daughter, sixteen years old, was badly bruised, and Charles, thirteen years old, was badly burned about the face and hands. The parents were not so fortunate, both being badly, if not fatally burned. The cause of the explosion is unknown. As the result of the explosion fire communicated to the residence of George Geyer, immediately adjoining, and it was badly wrecked.

Dr. J. S. Smith, a well known physician of Claypool, a small station on the Michigan division of the Big Four north of Wabash, is under arrest on a charge of criminal malpractice brought by a brother physician of the same neighborhood, Dr. Hazel. The woman involved is the young daughter of Dr. Hazel. Smith was arrested, and entered a vigorous denial of the charge. Waiving an examination, he was placed under bond of $1,000 to appear in circuit court. All parties are highly respected, and the arrest of Dr. Smith causes a good deal of a sensation.

John Hobe, of Elkhart, has a genuine eight dollar bill, issued by the United States of America in 1778. It is good on its face for eight Spanish milled dollars, but Mr. Hobe has refused a standing offer of $200 for his prize. Mr. Hobe claims that it is the oldest specimen of United States money extant.

Great preparations are making for the annual Dunkard meeting, which will begin at Muncie on the 18th inst., continuing until the 29th. A special tabernacle is being erected, capable of seating 3,000 people, and other preparations are on an equally liberal scale.

James Hardy, an alleged train-robber, has been rearrested at Spencer, where his father resides. He was captured in Kentucky, but he escaped from the officer having him in charge when the train arrived at Indianapolis.

SENTENCED TO BE SHOT.

Two Murderers Who Killed a Wealthy Englishman.

SALTILLO, Mexico, May 9.—Nearly a year ago an English ranchman named McKellar was shot down from ambush and killed near here. The murder attracted attention throughout Mexico and England owing to the wealth and prominence of the victim. Adolfo Villareal, a wealthy Mexican, whose ranch adjoined McKellar's and his servant, Dionzio Galan, were arrested on suspicion, convicted and sentenced to twenty years in prison. The supreme court has just revised the sentence and sentenced both murderers to be shot. The defendants have secured a stay in the return of the mandate.

"Oyster Farming."

NORTH GALVESTON, Tex., May 9.—There is a law in this state which provides that oyster lands shall be free to those who desire them. The advantages of North Galveston's location are the cause of the fast development of this remunerative industry hereabouts.

A FIXED RATE.

World's Fair Restaurants Establish Prices.

The Great Question of the Day Amicably Settled and the Public is Benefited.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, May 9.—The restaurant proprietors in the fair grounds have been brought to time by the commissioners and hereafter visitors to the exposition can be assured they will not be compelled to pay extortionate prices for food poorly served. All the restaurants controlled by the Wellington Catering company, the Casino Cafe, Whitehouse Inn and the other individual eating houses within the grounds, now present for the inspection of the patrons printed bills of fare with the charge opposite each article, so that there can be no mistake or deviation from the fixed tariff. There is also a noticeable improvement in the quality of the food. It is served hot in reality, and little complaint will be heard from this time forward about the prices charged. The patronage has increased since the new order of things went into operation.

AN AB-SE-HAWK WRIT.

Henry Colerick Gains a Point in a Law Case by a Clever Ruse.

When Henry Colerick, the brilliant attorney of this city, gets into a lawsuit the lawyer on the other side of the case is compelled to watch him like a hawk, for Henry is full of tricks, and will resort to almost any maneuvre to gain a point or secure an advantage for the client whom he represents.

On one occasion he had a case in court in which J. J. Jenkinson was the attorney on the opposite side. Joe was ready for trial, and Henry was not. Two of his most important witnesses were absent, and to enter into the trial of the case without them meant sure defeat. He had had the case continued on account of their absence once before, and so when he urged it as a reason why the case should be continued again Mr. Jenkinson strongly opposed it and insisted on an immediate trial.

Henry saw that unless he resorted to some sort of a trick he would be forced to trial and his quick wit came to his aid. While Jenkinson was making his speech opposing the motion for a continuance, Colerick slipped out of the door of the court room and asked two country friends, standing in the hall, to follow him into the court room and take seats near him. They consented to do so, and just as Joe was finishing his argument Henry and his two friends entered and walked within the enclosure of the bar.

"Take seats here, gentlemen," said Mr Colerick, motioning his two friends to chairs near the trial table, and then turning to the court he said with as much of the triumphant air as he could assume: "Your honor, I wish to withdraw my motion for a continuance and file a motion for an abse-hawk writ in this case."

Jenkinson didn't know what an abse-hawk writ was. He concluded, however, that it must be something that would operate greatly against him, and rather than confess his ignorance by inquiring, and seeing what he supposed was Colerick's two absent witnesses in court, he jumped up and said that "to accommodate the gentleman on the other side he would consent to a continuance of the case," and Henry gained his point. The case was continued.

Nobody had ever heard of an abse hawk writ before. It was the invention of Mr. Colerick and served, with his ruse of bringing in the two bystanders to delay a trial which he would otherwise have been forced into under serious disadvantages.

THEY SKIP OUT!

Two of the Defendants in the Lafayette Conspiracy Cases.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., May 9.—Prosecutor Wood filed an affidavit with Judge Langdon, of the circuit court, declaring that Peter J. Clark, convicted of assault with intent to murder George P. Rudolph, the ex-Catholic priest, and sentenced to four years' imprisonment, has fled the city and was beyond the jurisdiction of the court, and that William Temple, under indictment for the same offense, has also left. Both men were under bond.

Bench warrants were at once issued, and Murphy, Carter and Joice, other defendants were brought into court. They denied any intention of leaving the city. The officers are looking for Clark and Temple.

GAS EXPLOSION.

A Dwelling House Ruined and the Inmates Hurt.

ANDERSON, Ind., May 9.—At 1 o'clock this morning the dwelling house of Eli Murray was almost totally wrecked by an explosion of natural gas. The shock was terrific and the sleeping inmates were awakened by falling walls and plaster. Murray, his wife and two children were badly injured. No cause is known for the explosion.

WON A VICTORY.

The Horse Shoers of Chicago Given Everything They Demanded.

CHICAGO, May 9.—The 800 horse shoers who went out on a strike yesterday morning returned to work this morning, having won a complete victory. They have secured every demand made by them upon the Horse Shoers' association.

The young ladies of the Christian church will give an "ole wedding" in the church parlors tonight. They are very reticent concerning the program, preferring to keep it a secret until the audience has assembled.

WOMEN AT WORK.

Interesting District Meeting Being Held in This City.

The Opening Sessions of the Inter-County School of Methods at the Baptist Church.

The ladies of the Women Christian Temperance unions of the five counties of Adams, Huntington, Wells, Whitley and Allen met this morning at the Baptist Tabernacle in this city for a two days' session of the Intercounty School of Methods of this district.

The meeting was called to order by Miss M. G. Hay, of Indianapolis, the state treasurer of the association, who presided during the forenoon session. The opening services of praise were conducted by Mrs. Sarah Stopher, of this city, after which the society spent some time in the transaction of miscellaneous business.

Miss Mary Mohler, of Huntington, then read an excellent paper on the benefits that resulted from the work of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, which, she said, in every place where it was active, was doing good for the cause of temperance. In the general discussion on this subject Mrs Graham and Mrs Gordine, of this city, Mrs Driver, of Columbia City, and others participated. They all advocated the need of active, vigorous work, and the good that came from it.

Mrs. E. L. Calkins, the state superintendent of county and local schools of methods, then conducted the Bible reading. The noontide prayer followed and the convention then adjourned for lunch.

At the convening of the session this afternoon Mrs. J. M. Driver led the devotions. Mrs. L. M. Beck, the state president, delivered an address on the purpose, plan and methods of the school, which was followed by the exercises of the W. C. T. U. hour, which was led by Miss Margaret I. Dickson and participated in by Miss Fannie Winch, Miss May Carrington and Miss Sue McLachlin. After this Mrs. Calkins delivered an address on the subject "Study to Show Thyself Approved," which closed the afternoon session.

This evening a public meeting will be held at the Baptist Tabernacle, opened by words of greeting from Miss Clara Greer, and followed by five-minute talks from local presidents of the union. The address of the evening will be delivered by Miss Margaret Dickson, state secretary of the Young Women's branch of the association.

The sessions will continue tomorrow, and the ladies desire THE SENTINEL to say that everybody is invited to attend. The papers read and the addresses delivered are all interesting, and the time given in listening to them will be spent in a profitable manner. The program for tomorrow is as follows:

MISS WHITE'S FUNERAL.

It Will Be Held Tomorrow Morning at 10 O'Clock From the Residence—Other Deaths and Funerals.

The remains of Miss Anna Bain White, daughter of Capt. James E. and Mrs White, arrived on the Pittsburg limited train at 9 o'clock last night, in charge of her brother and sister, James and Miss Grace White, these two going as far as Denver to meet the body. Miss White died in Southern California after an illness of three days. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning, at 10 o'clock, from the family residence, 60 Barr street. Rev. David Moffat will conduct the religious services. The pall bearers will be Henry Freeman, Ben Harper, John W. White, Ed. White, J. B. White, jr., and A. B. White. Interment at Lindenwood.

This morning occurred the sad death of Sarah M. Erwin, the twelve year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin, of Warsaw. Her death occurred at the residence of Mrs. Shepler, corner of Buchanan and Reed streets. The little one was visiting the family and was taken down with brain fever. The arrangements of the funeral have not yet been made.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Margaret Basle will be held on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Baptist church, instead of tomorrow afternoon as first announced.

Mrs. Catherine Burnham, of West Jefferson street, whose husband is salesman at the Indiana Furniture company, has received a letter containing the sad news of the death of her aunt, Mrs. John Oliver, and her cousin, Daniel Oliver, and child, near Guthrie, in Oklahoma territory. They were killed by a cyclone which swept over that country a week ago.

Ralph, the ten year old son of Samuel Brokaw, died last evening from paralysis of the heart at the residence, 302 South Hanna street. The funeral was held this afternoon privately, as the deceased had just recovered from a severe attack of diphtheria. The child's mother is also ill with diphtheria.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary C. Crow, wife of Jonathan Crow, residing in Wayne township, took place yesterday morning from the St. Patrick's church, Rev. Father Delaney officiating and was very largely attended. The interment was at the Catholic cemetery. Mrs Crow was an estimable lady and was universally loved for her many graces of character. She had been a resident of this county since 1845. She left to mourn her death a husband and a family of ten children—five sons and five daughters—also an adopted daughter, Mary C. Crow.

GUN WENT OFF.

F. G. Young, of the Postoffice, Has a Narrow Escape—A Small Boy Hurt.

Yesterday, while F. G. Young, Postmaster Higgins' private secretary in the Fort Wayne postoffice, was examining a small target rifle used to shoot rats, the weapon was accidentally discharged. The ball lodged in the wall in the office, a few feet off. As there were several persons in the room at the time, they all had a narrow escape.

Gottlieb Haag, a stonecutter employed at the office of Keller & Braun, was struck in the eye by a flying piece of stone yesterday, and painfully hurt. He is now under the care of Dr. John Seaton, who thinks he can save the sight of the injured eye.

Yesterday afternoon Charles Jackson, the seven-year old son of Mr. and Mrs Jackson, who reside at the corner of Jackson and Greely streets, was struck by a Nickel Plate engine while playing along the tracks. He was dragged a distance of twenty feet. Dr. Stemen attends him.

KENTUCKY DERBY.

The Races Will Take Place Upon a Heavy Track.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 9.—The Kentucky Derby will be run this year on a heavy track. Rain fell all yesterday afternoon, and the course is fetlock deep in loose mud. Each of the six probable starters are at home in heavy going, however, as their races show. The Cushing and Orth colts, Boundless and Lookout, were out early yesterday, and worked out in 2:43½ and 2:41½ respectively. Buck McCann was sent away with weight up, and moved a mile and a quarter handily in 2:15, but trainer Tucker then had him pulled up and he did not finish the route. Plutus is being kept dark, as his final preparation, as heretofore, has been before daylight. Each of these four will have a strong backing, and the outsiders, Linger and Mirage, will not be without friends.

FRANK MERIWETHER.

He Again Bobs Up Serenely in the Courts.

His Attorneys Will Bring Suit to Establish His Sanity and Set Aside the Guardian.

Frank Meriwether, about whom much has been written for different papers in Indiana and Ohio, will arrive in this city tomorrow or Thursday and begin a legal action to have his claim of sanity legally established. It will be remembered that he was declared insane and sent to a private hospital in Oxford, Ohio. He was cured and escaping, was married to a young lady of Oxford, at Cincinnati. Frank was here a month or so ago to look up his property, which was left him by his mother and which amounts to quite an estate. He returned to Oxford after a few hours' stay in Fort Wayne, leaving his affairs in the hands of W. and E. Leonard, the attorneys. It now appears that a suit will have to be brought to establish their claims of sanity and to have the guardianship of Clark Fairbank set aside. Meriwether has brought several suits against the asylum in which he was confined.

Mexico's Minister.

CITY OF MEXICO, May 9.—It is reported here on good authority that Hon. These young men came here from Muncie and purchased the stock of shoes of Van-Kneren Bros., and closed it out after having ordered an entire new stock of the finest ladies shoes that could be had. PEOPLE so constituted that they must object to everything are now inveighing against the new stamps. The example was set by Senator Wolcott in a moment when his senses were being soothed by the sound of his own voice. The complaint is that the stamps are too big to be licked. The allegation of inability to lick a postage stamp has heretofore been considered a disparagement.

JOHN VOSKO, a Hungarian living in Pennsylvania, has just purchased a wife for $30. The man who sold her states gleefully that he can get another as good for $10. The incident shows that, commercially considered, the speculator is not lacking in astuteness, and also that the Land of the Free is lending the shelter of its folds to some peculiar cattle.

I desire in a special manner to thank my friends and neighbors for the kind sympathy they manifested during the long sickness of my daughter and to assure them that I appreciate very much all they have done, and that I shall always hold them in grateful remembrance.

MASONIC TEMPLE—Chas. A. Gardner and company in "Fatherland."
CITY COUNCIL—Regular Meeting.
BAPTIST TABERNACLE—Convention of school of methods.
LODGES—Degree of Honor No. 2 & 4, A. O. U. W.; Sons of St. George, Fort Wayne lodge, No. 116, K. of P., Home lodge, F. and A. M.

THE Peru Comet, a new four-column paper, edited by Diehl and Holman, and published every Saturday, struck us this morning. It is a bright and newsy publication.

JOSEPH SHACKLEFORD, recently of the Connersville Times, has purchased J. I. Donnell's interest in the Anderson Herald. He will have control of the business management.

THE president has issued an order advising the army of office seekers at Washington to go to their homes and when he wanted them he would drop them a line. Grover has a funny way of doing business sometimes.

THE Anderson Herald has been drawn into controversy with Captain Welker, of the police force of that city, which will end in a libel suit. There was an effort at arbitration, but the parties could not get together on details, and the Herald thereupon announced that it had nothing to retract.

SOME of the Chicago papers are trying to make it appear that because the world's fair was closed last Sunday the saloons did a thriving business on that day. That's nothing. We have no world's fair in Fort Wayne, and yet some of our saloons do a rushing business every Sunday, and make no big ado about it, either.

THE resignation of Gen. W. S. Rosecrans as register of the treasury has caused a good deal of gossip. Although appointed by President Cleveland, he was retained by the republican administration notwithstanding the fact that by congressional enactment he was also drawing the pay of a retired brigadier-general. This combination caused many complaints from parties who were otherwise friendly disposed toward the popular and picturesque "Old Rosey." General Rosecrans was retained in office by the republicans at the personal request of Chauncey M. Depew. President Harrison was not at all averse to conferring the distinction upon the general for the reason that he was a member of the Society of the Army of the Cumberland, of which General Rosecrans was the president. The resignation of General Rosecrans was entirely voluntary. His successor has not been determined upon, but it is probable that some veteran union soldier will be appointed. The duties of the office are not arduous, but carry with them the honorable distinction of having the register's name imprinted on the government currency.

THE approaching sessions of the 105th General Assembly of the Presbyterian church of the United States, which will begin at Washington, D. C., next Monday, will be one of the most important in the history of the church. Three subjects will engross its attention, coming over from the meeting at Portland last year. These are the report of the committee on seminaries, the appeal of the committee which prosecuted Professor Briggs, from the action of the New York Presbytery and the revision of the Confession of Faith. The action on these will be watched with intense interest all over the country. They represent in a concrete form the agitation and unrest which for several years have been prevalent throughout the religious world. A partial poll has been made of the ministers of the church, from the result of which it is the belief of many that the question of revision will be relegated to the background for the present and that the Briggs case will be the most interesting topic of consideration. The assembly will continue in session about twelve days. Coincidentally with the general assembly will be held the annual meeting of the Women's Foreign and Home Missionary societies, auxiliary to the boards of the church.

Leagued Against Tyranny.

[illegible] the women of New Orleans to form a league with the pledge, "We, the undersigned ladies of New Orleans, promise never to wear a hoop skirt. If we break this pledge we will pay two dollars to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children." This forming leagues of themselves against themselves to protect themselves from themselves is the most amusing thing women have done in a decade. Why not take a leaf out of the man's book on dress? When the aesthetic craze for knee breeches broke out five or six years ago there were no leagues and guilds of men formed to prevent the contagion. The average man knows that his nether limbs are none of an adornment to the world when draped in such a way as to disguise their outlines. Consequently he wore his regulation trousers without a word, and behold the craze died a sudden death and was buried without obsequies in an unknown grave. If woman does not want the crinoline there is no power that can make her wear it once she makes up her mind she will not disfigure herself with its tip-tilting skirt and loops.

The Decline of Partisanism.

One of the best signs of a more improved time in the political relations of Americans is the evident decline of partisanship. Time was, less than a generation ago, when a difference of opinion on party questions was sufficient to break up families, separate father from son and even husband from wife. Sectionalism was strong, and the fact that a man came from a different state was sufficient to make him an object of ridicule or annoying insults. Now this has almost entirely disappeared and a cordial respect for each other's opinions, an avoidance of subjects upon which disagreements are likely, and a hearty cooperation in good works are the ordinary concomitants of American political life. The personal character of candidates is scrutinized more closely and their fitness for the immediate duties of their office have become larger factors with the voters than their adherence to some economical theory or some ideal policy of government. This is especially true in selections for judicial offices where the party to which the candidate belongs does not count for much in the general result. This does not involve any abandonment of principle and is a most hopeful augury for the future.

"ARE the rich, as a class, growing richer, and are the not rich, as a class, growing poorer?" is the question propounded by a writer in the Philadelphia North American, and then he goes on to say: "We deny it, and we affirm, and appeal to the assessment lists everywhere in support of the affirmation, that there are more forehanded men to-day, according to population, than there have been since the government was founded. There are a few, a very few, men who count their wealth by millions, but it is doubtful if, with the exception of perhaps half a hundred persons, the rich men of to-day are any richer than the same percentage of the total were sixty years ago. When it was said that John Jacob Astor was worth a million people stood in awe, exactly as they do now when the seventy millions of Jay Gould's estate are mentioned."

PEOPLE who wonder that Queen Victoria should be willing to accept from one of her subjects the use of the Villa Palmieri, where she is now stopping at Florence, rent free, and even allowing the owner to incur a very considerable outlay in refurnishing and altering the construction of the building to suit her majesty's somewhat eccentric tastes, evidently do not comprehend the queen's thriftiness. She accepts favors from her subjects as often as they are offered. She doesn't draw the line at legacies from her subjects, as was illustrated in the case of the London tradesman, named Neal, who left her no less than one million dollars greatly to the disgust of his sorrowing relatives. The fact that this testator was supposed to be insane when he made this bequest did not prevent her majesty from profiting by it.

THE statistics of immigration into this country for the first quarter of 1893 show a falling off of more than one quarter from the record for the same period of 1892, the totals being 78,604 last year and [illegible] this. The falling off is most marked from those nations which furnish the least desirable contributions. Russia sent us only 3,003, against 15,559; Hungary 2,097, against 10,416, and Poland but 273, against 6,035. Sweden and Norway, England and Wales show scarcely any change, but Ireland has increased her contingent from [illegible] to 6,929. Germany is nearly a quarter behind her record last year and Italy shows a slight increase.

RESIDENTS of Dobbs' Ferry, N. Y., are tired of that outlandish name, and intend having the name changed. The name is derived from the fact that Jeremiah Dobbs, a Swede, who was a fisherman and lived at Wilson Point, near the southern line of the village, added to his income as early as prior to the war of the revolution by ferrying people and travelers across the Hudson.

IN a recent work on criminology the earnest investigator says that out of 31 young criminals 45 per cent. did not blush when examined. Of 122 female criminals 81 per cent. did not blush.

IN FRANCE a [illegible] to be formed, with [illegible] the [illegible] national [illegible] near the [illegible] when the new Stanford University [illegible] of law will be opened.

IN MEMORY

Of Lulu E. Christlieb, who died February 27, 1893, aged five years and twenty-seven days.

A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is stilled,
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled.

Her absence brought sunshine to our hearts,
Her sweet words spoken tears,
But death has hushed that little voice
Till God for term shall raise.

Oh Lulu dear we did love thee,
And [illegible] were the hours
When [illegible] and [illegible]
For [illegible] and [illegible].

But when we gather at the [illegible]
When [illegible] long parted meet
Amongst that shining angel throng
[illegible] we will greet.

The many friends of Mr. S. Keeler, well known in this city, but now living on a farm about eight miles west of Fort Wayne, will be grieved to learn of his illness. He is a veteran stone cutter and his health failing him he went upon a farm some years ago. His wife has also been ill.

THE RACING SEASON.

THE OUTLOOK IS A MOST PROMISING ONE

So Thinks Editor Buck of the Spirit of the Times—The West Offers the Greatest Attractions This Year—Internal Jealousies.

EDITOR BUCK.

RACEGOERS naturally welcome the coming of spring and summer racing. After the long, dreary winter, with its snow and ice, the green grass is grateful to the eyes of those who follow the turf. Midwinter racing has become an institution, but it is a sad and weary parody of the sport in warm weather.

The comparison between the highly strung racers of the best thoroughbred blood and the jaded hacks seen on the winter tracks, is not such as to favor the running of horses in all kinds of weather.

Winter racing provides a living for a great number of persons who without it would not fare so well. This is one of the few reasons that it should be continued; but, on the whole, there is little to commend in the "sport."

East and West the prospects for a successful season were never better. Especially is this true of the West. The Washington Park Club of Chicago has arranged a magnificent program filled with generous purses and stake events.

At Chicago, as also at the great Eastern meetings, an international flavor will be added by the presence of some English horses. So far as can be seen at present, there will be at least two English representatives in the American Derby.

To turn to the prospects for the coming season in the East. It is safe to say that never have they been rosier. And by this is not only meant the actual prospects of sport but the entire organization of the turf. In the latter respect the persistent but quiet work of the Board of Control is being generally felt.

The board's method of procedure has supplied an unfailing source of would-be sarcastic comment, of which the general gist may be summed up in the query, "Why don't they pitch in and do something?" But while their critics are airing their opinions the board was doing something very real. Had they gone to work with a blare of trumpets and attempted at one sweep to reorganize the Eastern turf and its discipline, the result would probably have been nil.

As it is, it required a certain lapse of time to put in evidence the greatness of the work that has by degrees been accomplished; and the necessary period having passed, the effects become day by day more visible.

Before the formation of the board there was discipline, of course, but it was that of a band of guerilla fighters. Now this semi-organization has been succeeded by a system that in comparison is as thorough and effective as that of the well-drilled regular regiment.

One effect that has been achieved by the board would alone more than justify its existence, this being the reducing of the forfeit list to order. The forfeit list was a standing disgrace to our turf till it was taken in hand in a practical manner.

It is just one of those things in which lack of co-operation is fatal. Internal jealousies and fear of the loss of popularity and prestige made the officials of individual racing associations unwilling to enforce the rigid regulations under which alone the forfeit system can be kept in order.

The institution of the Board of Control brought into existence a body which, while representing all the great four Eastern associations, was identical not with any one of them, but all, and was entirely independent.

From that moment discipline in every direction became possible, and more especially in the more invidious matter of the due enforcement of the forfeit system. Owners and breeders soon found that there was no favor to be hoped for under the new regime.

Consequently they fell into line with all possible rapidity, with the result that the department will, considering the circumstances under which it exists, compare favorably with any in the world.

So far as the sport to be expected this season is concerned, there is every reason to suppose that the Eastern turf will have never seen a more spirited campaign. The stake events have filled well with horses of a high class. It can not be said that the handicap or all-age division is notable for its strength, though, perhaps, results may prove better than appears at the first glance.

This is inevitable from time to time on the turf of every country. It was undoubtedly the case in England last season, and, as the 3-year-olds of last year were below the average, will probably be so again this year.

It was partly this that made the entry list to the Brooklyn and Suburban handicaps fall below the usual standard, but it seems as if an unnecessary amount of stress has been laid upon this fact. The entries are small because the cheaper element is conspicuous by its absence, owners not caring to engage horses of that kind and incur heavy entrance fees.

In the Metropolitan, where the terms are easier, the entry was up to the mark, and similar results will be seen during the season. There is still much undeveloped talent to come to the fore and fill the gaps that will be left by horses now under suspicion which will sooner or later fall out of training.

So far as can be at present judged in a season which is already late, it is probable [illegible] the [illegible] of [illegible] two-year-olds will be exceptionally good. This is of course, a point on which it is safe for no man to prophesy.

With two year olds it is often the unexpected that happens and there is no possible certainty of prediction, still, present indications point to the likelihood of there being an extra good lot this year. So, too, the three-year-olds are likely to make a respectable showing.

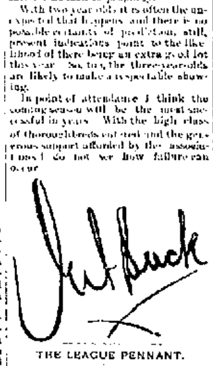

In point of attendance I think the coming season will be the most successful in years. With the high class of thoroughbreds entered and the generous support afforded by the associations I do not see how failure can occur.

Hits the nail on the head—one of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They do the right thing in the right way. They cleanse and regulate the liver, stomach and bowels—thoroughly and effectively, but mildly and gently. They prevent, rather than force. One tiny, sugar-coated Pellet's a gentle laxative, three to four act as a cathartic. They're the smallest, but the best. They're easiest to take, the most pleasant in its effects. They're the cheapest little liver pill, and they're never been equaled. Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels, are prevented, relieved, and cured.

They're the cheapest pill you can buy, because they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned.

You pay only for value received.

THE LEAGUE PENNANT.

Tim Murnane Sizes Up the Various League Contestants.

The veteran Tim Murnane has cast his eagle eye over the League field and has come to the following conclusion anent the chances of the championship competitors:

"The National League will open the season on April 27, Boston playing against New York on the latter's grounds. The next day all the League teams will start in.

"The New York game will be the most important of that week, as Ward is bound to get good work out of his strong team and will try hard to take a fall out of the champions.

"New York is the one team that Boston has to fear this season. Cleveland lost about all chance of the pennant when she lost Davis, one of the greatest players in the profession. Brooklyn lost a winner in Ward and they stand a poor show of the prize.

"Pittsburg will make trouble at home, but they are likely to drop games on the road as of old. It will be a team to dread all through, however, and may give Boston and New York a great battle.

"Harry Wright's Quakers can be counted on for a place, but stand little show of beating out New York, Pittsburg and Boston.

"Anson will manage to surprise his opponents now and then by winning a game with the help of Kittredge, Hutchinson, Ryan and Dahlen, but as to having any say about the pennant the old war horse is a few chips shy on talent.

"Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland and Pittsburg are almost sure to land among the first six teams. Cincinnati, Brooklyn and Chicago will make a fight for sixth place, with the chances in favor of Comiskey's boys.

"St. Louis, Washington, Louisville and Baltimore will work simply to keep out of the last notch, and the poor umpire will have his hands full when visiting those cities."—Sporting Life.

oarsman of New Orleans. By his skill with the oars he has gained considerable fame in the South. He is a member of the Louisiana Boat Club and the winner of a large number of trophies.

BROADSWORDSMANSHIP.

May Become More Popular Now as Fighting Is Declining.

Swordsmanship threatens to occupy the same amount of attention that pugilism did prior to last September. Such is the opinion of a large number of sporting writers who have seen in the "defeat" of Sullivan at New Orleans the death knell of festive sport as a retainer of popular interest. Already expert swordsmen are cropping up in different parts of the country and it is not impossible that in the near future a battle royal of national interest will take place. Captain James Phelan of Kansas City, has come to the front with a challenge to compete in a broadsword contest against any man in America for any amount. His challenge, which has been posted at the office of a New York sporting paper, is backed by a forfeit of $500.

CAPTAIN PHELAN.

THE DIAMOND.

"Silver" King isn't superstitious. He was the thirteenth man to sign a New York contract.

John Irwin of Boston has consented to manage the Wilkesbarre Club in the Eastern League.

Says Arlie Latham: "They must have the old boys in line if they want to draw the people."

Tony Mullane thinks the change in distance will cut some figure with every pitcher in the league.

For the lip there is no brightness,
For the teeth there is no whiteness,

But those who use it, know full well,
How bright and beautiful the spell
It throws o'er man or woman's face.

CHICAGO has a preacher who claims royal descent, but the open-hearted people there have received him cordially. They temper their judgment with the charitable thought that possibly the preacher has made an error in tracing his pedigree.

A Wonderful Machine.

There is no doubt that man is a fine mechanism, but like every other machine he wears out by friction. It is said that he is born again every two or three years. His body is virtually remade from food. To retard this making over is radically wrong as a man loses so much vitality in the delayed process that it takes a long time to recuperate. The process of making anew is so accelerated by purging with Brandreth's Pills that a new man, as it were, may be made in two or three months, and the change in the mechanism is such that the worn out part is replaced by the new without the usual running down of the entire machine. You don't have to stop for repairs. Brandreth's Pills purify the old, diseased and worn out body. They are purely vegetable, absolutely harmless, and safe to take at any time.

A Truthful Witness.

Truth is beautiful as well as safe and mighty. In the incident related below, a boy 12 years old, with only truth as a weapon, conquered a smart and shrewd lawyer who was fighting for a bad cause.

Walter was the important witness in a lawsuit. One of the lawyers, after cross questioning him severely, said:

"Your father has been talking to you and telling you how to testify, hasn't he?"

"Yes," said the boy.

"Now," said the lawyer, "just tell us how your father told you to testify."

"Well," said the boy, modestly, "father told me that the lawyers would try and tangle me up in my testimony; but if I would just be careful and tell the truth, I could tell the same thing every time."

The lawyer didn't try to tangle up the boy any more.—Observer.

IT is said that the sum of $250,000 in gold was received at Washington from San Francisco a few days ago and found to be 9 cents short in weight. But the bags containing it were burned and the ashes assayed, when the missing sum was made up. It cost a hundred times 9 cents to burn the bags, assay the gold, and balance the accounts. Some one might have "chipped in" to pay the 9 cents, but, of course, that would not have been the regulation red-tape way of doing business.

with your washing and cleaning, if you don't use Pearline. And you can use it, with great gain, upon anything that you want made clean. In washing clothes, perhaps you won't believe that Pearline is harmless. It has been proved so to millions of women, over and over again, but perhaps you won't be convinced. Then use it for something that can't be hurt. Use it for washing dishes, for instance, and save work. When you come to know it better and let it wash the clothes, you'll find that it saves the wear and tear as well as the work.

Send it Back Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, be honest—send it back. 33 JAMES PYLE, New York.

RAILWAYS AND SHOPS.

The Fort Wayne Engines Score Another Victory.

Accidents, Incidents and Personal Mention of the People About the Railway Centers.

The special train bearing the foreign naval officers to New York passed through the city at 9 o'clock last evening. It had seventy-eight passengers. The train consisted of two dining cars and six sleepers, all equipped with electric lights and other modern improvements. It left Chicago with class O engine No. 48, but before Valparaiso was reached it became apparent that more power must be added if the electric lights were to be operated and the scheduled time maintained, and at the latter city engine 160, which hauls the accommodation between Chicago and Valparaiso, was hooked on and the train came into Fort Wayne as a double header, just ten minutes late. At this point No. 270, a class X, built in the Fort Wayne shops, took the place of the two class O engines and put the train into Crestline exactly on time. This is another evidence of the superiority of the Fort Wayne engines.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

The legislative council, an organization that is to take the place of the legislative committee of the organized laboring men of the state, was formed yesterday. The council is to be a permanent organization, with headquarters at Indianapolis. It is to represent all the branches of organized labor in the state. The officers elected are as follows:

President—Harry Roberts, of the Carpenters' union.

Vice President—G. P. Kern, of the Firemen's brotherhood.

Financial and Recording Secretary—Edgar A. Perkins, of the Typographical union.

Treasurer—A. B. Loebenberg, of the Salesmen's union.

Sergeant-at-Arms—John Colbert, of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers.

The council expects to take up the work laid down by the legislative committee. It will be the object of the council to secure from the legislature laws that are more beneficial to the laboring men of the state. The council may also devote some attention to municipal affairs. The new organization will have in charge the publication of a blue book of the records of members of the last general assembly if it is decided that such a book shall be issued.

The Electric Light company today shipped a car load of electric machinery to the Central Electric Light company of Chicago.

Mrs. Smith, wife of the Nickel Plate night foreman, is very ill. She is a sister to Machinist Frank Fox, of the Pittsburg shops.

Firemen J. H. Traver and G. Rosser are on the Pittsburg off duty list. The former is sick and the latter is looking after private business.

During the world's fair Travelling Passenger Agent W. S. Brown, of the Lake Shore, will make Hillsdale his headquarters. Heretofore his headquarters were Toledo.

The net earnings of the Nickel Plate road thus far this year have dropped $35,000 below those of the corresponding period of 1892.

Frank Hugenard, of the shipping room at the electric light works, was compelled to quit work yesterday afternoon on account of sickness.

Machinist Gus Fromuth has returned from Lafayette, Ind., where he went a couple of weeks ago to set up an engine built by the Bass company.

George W. Boyd, assistant general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania lines, contemplates writing a book entitled, "What I Know About Presidential Tours."

Conductor Thomas Bell resumed charge of his train yesterday. Conductor Layman is now off duty by permission. Both are employed on the Nickel Plate.

Fred Lindenberger, who had a hand mashed three months ago, has nearly recovered from the injury. This morning he reported for duty at the Stand and Wheel works.

Yesterday afternoon a work train on the Pittsburg road rundown and killed a farm laborer named Dominic Oblitle near Valparaiso. The body of the man was horribly mangled.

Frank Lauer, the Pittsburg car inspector, resumed his duties this morning, after an absence of several days on account of the death and funeral of his brother in law, Charles Tremmel.

The Pennsylvania company has let the contract for building a freight depot at Logansport, 250 feet in length by 115 in width. Growth of business at that point necessitated the improvement.

Machinist Lloyd Judy, of the Pitts. shops, is off duty on account of the sickness of his baby. For a while yesterday it was thought the little one could not live, but it revived and is better today.

The general passenger agents of the roads in the Central Traffic territory will meet in Chicago tomorrow to talk over rate matters and take some action as regards the disposition of the Nickel Plate to disturb rates.

John L. Findlayson, machinist in the Pittsburg shops, was painfully injured yesterday, when a fellow workman accidentally struck his left hand with a hammer. Dr. Stemen dressed the wound, which is a bad one.

The following Pittsburg trainmen are on duty again after an absence for various reasons: Engineers L. M. Pfeiffer, J. Parrish, T. Titus, D. V. North, P. T. Welsh and M. Kirby; Firemen F. Wingert and G. Haines.

The date for the taking effect of the Nickel Plate's new time card has been postponed until Sunday, May 21st. The postponement was caused by delay in equipping cars on the West Shore road, the Nickel Plate's New York connection.

New York City receives $140,000 annually from the New York Central, $120,000 from the Erie, $100,000 from the Pennsylvania, $32,000 from the Jersey Central and $15,000 from the Lackawanna railroad companies for dock privileges.

A Nickel Plate car on a siding at the crossing was left too close to the Grand Rapids tracks yesterday and a freight train on the latter road struck it and threw it over upon its side on the main track. The greatest damage was delay in traffic for an hour.

William H. Morton has parted with his whiskers. Sunday morning Mr. Morton poured gasoline on the kindling and coal in his cook stove in order to make a quick fire. When he applied a match there was an explosion and William's whiskers were burned completely off. Mr. Morton is a Pittsburg car inspector.

An old man, evidently a farmer, deliberately walked off of Pittsburg train No. 8, a short distance east of Wanetah, last night. The train was moving along at a lively rate and the man turned over several times when he struck the ground. He then picked himself up and the last the trainmen seen of him he was walking leisurely back towards Wanetah, apparently uninjured.

The Monon will stir up its competitors by putting on tickets to go via Michigan City and the lake to Chicago, and returning all rail, meeting any rates the Lake Erie and Western may decide to make. Indications are for lively times between these two roads in the next thirty days. The regular lines take the position that the Lake Erie and Western is an intruder, and has no right to establish a line, even at full rate.

Fred Rogge has a sorely afflicted arm which has so far baffled the best medical skill of two cities. On the left forearm is what appears to be a gangrenous growth and no remedy has yet been applied that will check its growth. Mr. Rogge has just returned from Chicago, where he was under treatment, and his arm, if anything, is a little worse than it was when the Chicago specialist commenced treating it. Dr. W. H. Myers has now taken the case. Mr. Rogge is a Nickel Plate car inspector, but he has been unable to work for several months.

Dangerous Bottle Cleaning.

It is surprising, says Dr. F. Sawyer, how many people persist in cleaning bottles with shot after the frequent cautions that have been given. Nothing cleans bottles so easily as a handful of shot, which can be shaken into every corner until the glass fairly shines with cleanliness; but the danger of lead poisoning is great, even when the bottle is rinsed out with clean water, and it is doubly dangerous when there is no rinsing out at all, as is usually the case. Clean sand is a convenient and thorough bottle cleanser, especially as the particles of sand which adhere must be afterward washed out to complete the process. When time is not an object, a bottle can be well cleansed by the aid of potato parings, but as they must be corked in and left to ferment, the plan is not expeditious enough for general use.

Tea as a Sharpener of the Brain.

M. Zola, who now appears to spend most of his time answering questions put to him by journalists on all subjects on which it is possible for opinions to differ, has been prevailed upon to say something about coffee. He tells us that for nearly twenty years he has ceased to drink it, and that, although he takes a little now, it agrees badly with his nerves. He long ago gave up wine entirely and took to tea. He confesses that he is a "great drinker" of this beverage. M. Clemenceau is another; tea is the only fillip he believes in when the brain wants sharpening. Some people say that the radical statesman is now smarting from the excessive sharpness of his brain. If this is really so tea is perhaps to be blamed for it.

The Easter Kiss in Russia.

The kiss plays an important part in the Easter ceremonies of Russia. During that great festival of the church, from the highest to the lowest, the Easter kiss is given and received. "Christ is risen," says one. "He is risen indeed," replies the other, and a mutual embrace follows. The Czar salutes his family, his retinue, the members of his court and his personal attendants. The General kisses the officers of his corps, and the Colonel those of his regiment, a master embraces his servants. Even a beggar proffering the salutation of "Christ is risen" to some high-born dame would receive the usual response, but the kiss would probably be commuted for some small piece of money.

STORY OF THE ARCTIC SEAS.

How Thirty Men Were Found Dead in a Hut on a Desolate Island.

While on a recent visit to St. John's, Newfoundland, Mr. Fetlan, an Englishman, related the following story to a reporter of the Daily Tribune, of that city, concerning Captain Monsan, who is in charge of the ship in which Dr. Nansen will attempt to reach the north pole.

A few years back Captain Monsan and another captain were out whaling near the coast of Spitzbergen, when they were frozen in earlier than they expected. A conference of the officers of both ships was held on board Captain Monsan's vessel, when it was found that they had not sufficient provisions to last them till the following summer. On the opposite side of Spitzbergen, ninety miles away, there was a cache containing food supplied by the Danish and Swedish governments for the use of shipwrecked sailors, the existence of which was known to Monsan, and he found that by sending thirty men across the island to the cache there would be sufficient provisions on board the two ships to last the remainder till the ice broke up the following July.

Volunteers were called for, and thirty were selected from among the crews of both vessels to cross the island in sledges to the cache, which they expected to reach in thirty days. The men left, and a few days afterward Monsan and his fellow-captain got clear, owing to the unexpected breaking up of the ice. They immediately set sail for Norway, knowing that the cache contained sufficient provisions to keep the thirty men who were left behind alive till the following summer. In the ensuing July a rescue expedition was sent out from Norway, in charge of Captain Monsan, and having arrived in the bay near which the cache was situated they fired a gun, but got no response from the shore.

Captain Monsan says that he went ashore with a sinking heart, for he feared the worst, and the result proved that he was right, for, on entering the hut built over the cache, he found himself in the presence of thirty dead bodies. The leader of the expedition sat at the table dead, with his open diary before him, written up within ten days of Monsan's arrival, and in it he explained that the men suffered such hardship in crossing Spitzbergen that they ate ravenously when they reached the cache.

In that climate, he said, it was absolutely necessary to health that exercise should be taken in the open air for a certain number of hours every day, but he had been powerless to enforce discipline among them, and the result was that one after another sickened and died. One man was actually found dead in his bunk with a piece of loaf sugar grasped in his frozen hand. The relief party could do nothing but bury the dead, and so hard was the earth frozen on the island that dynamite had to be used to hollow out the graves. Captain Monsan then returned to Norway.

The regular meeting of the woman's auxiliary will be held Thursday, at 2.30 p. m., at the city Y. M. C. A. Every lady interested should be present, as it is a very important meeting.

NATURAL GAS FIRE.

A revolution in Gas Grate Fires. More heat can be had with a No. 5 Mixer than any other style of burner with a No. 5 Mixer.

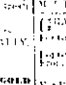

You can turn out your furnaces and have all the heat you want from your grates, and have better ventilation in your rooms.

H. J. Ash has taken the agency for a grate burner that will accomplish the above results, and besides he will remodel your grate with polished brass sides and leader and make a beautiful grate fire for a few dollars.

The proof of the pudding is eating.

FINISHING THEM OFF.

How General Grant Rebuffed the Disgruntled Sailor.

"I remember an incident," says an American official correspondent, "that clearly illustrates General Grant's character. When I was secretary of the navy, some boatswains of sailors of the better class came to me and asked to have some rank given them. They did not care about an increase of pay, they said, but they wanted relative rank. I could not do anything for them, but they came several times and were rather importunate, and I finally led a delegation of them over to the White house and let them present their petition to President Grant in person.

"They told him what they wanted, and argued for a redress of their grievances plainly but forcibly. At last an old boat swain came to the front and hitching up his trousers and turning his quid, said,

"'Mr. President, I can put this 'ere matter so's you can see it plain. Now, here I be a parent, in fact a father. My son is a midshipman. He outranks me, don't you observe? That ain't right, don't you see?'

"'Indeed!' said Grant. 'Who appointed him?'

"'The secretary here,' the bo'sun said, not encouraged by the question, he went on. 'It ain't right, don't you see, that I should be beneath 'im. Why, if I was to go on to his ship the boy I brought up to obey me would boss his own father. Just think of that! An' he has better quarters 'n me an' better eats, nicer fixin's an' all that—sleeps in a nice soft bed an' all that. See?'

"'Yes,' the president said, 'yes, the world is full of inequalities. I know of a case quite similar to yours.'

"The old bo'sun gave another hitch to his lower gear.

"'I know of an old fellow,' said General Grant, 'who is a postmaster of a little town in Kentucky. He lives in a plain way, in a small house. He is a nice old man, but he isn't much in rank. His son outranks him more than your son does you. His son lives in Washington, in the biggest house there, and he is surrounded by the nicest of furniture and eats and drinks anything he takes a notion to. He could remove his father from office in a minute if he wanted to, but he doesn't want to. And the old man—that's Jesse Grant, you know—doesn't seem to care about the inequality in rank. I suppose he is glad to see his boy get along in the world.'

"The old bo'sun looked down at the carpet and tried to bore a hole in it with his toe, and his comrades all laughed at him joyously and slapped him on the back, and filed out in great glee. It was the last I ever heard of the petition or the petitioners."

All Things Come to Those Who Wait!

The truth of the old adage, "all things come to those who wait," is forcibly borne out this week by the Special Sale in our Men's Suit Department. The backward and unseasonable weather of the past few weeks has, to a large extent, interfered with the sale of spring suits, and as our stock is the largest we have ever carried, we are compelled to ignore profits entirely and force the goods from our counters. Commencing yesterday and until closing time Saturday, May 20th, we offer thirty-five styles of Men's suits at the small price of Eleven Dollars for your pick and choice of the entire lot. Not one of these suits were made to sell for less than Fifteen Dollars, and a large majority of them are worth from Sixteen to Eighteen Dollars. In the vast assortment you will find all the latest and most fashionable styles of the day and the newest and prettiest materials now in vogue.

'Tis well if you have deferred the purchase of a Spring Suit, for now we offer this grand opportunity which enables you to own an Elegant Stylish Suit at a fractional part of its real worth. We are, and always have been, "up to date." In the year 1893 we sell 1893 goods, nothing else. That's what are included in this sale. Light and medium colors will have full sway again this season, neat effects in pin checks taking the lead. In selecting the thirty-five styles from our stock for this Special Sale, we have tried to include every desirable color and fabric and have left nothing undone to make it the Greatest Special Sale of Men's Clothing that we have ever attempted. Should you desire something in a Dark suit we want to call your special attention to a Rough Black Cheviot, Double-breasted sack suit, which is included in this sale. We doubt very much whether you can equal it for $15 in any other store in the city. Sale closes May 20th, remember.
